Selectmen Support Action

Officials Acted Properly On Comp Permit Responses

By Lewis C. Howe and Karen L. Day

The Board of Selectmen, responding to allegations made by the Andover Housing Partnership Committee (AHPC), have determined that the town manager and the town's physical planner, who coordinates the AHPC, did not act inappropriately by sending letters to state housing agencies regarding pending comprehensive permits in Andover.

The AHPC was on the selectmen's Monday night agenda to finalize procedural guidelines, but when AHPC member George Danneman addressed the board, it was with what Selectman William Downs called "three loaded questions."

Chairman Gerald Silverman objected to Danneman's inquiry, "Has town approval been given to any project other than Winn Development?", saying it was "not a question, but an accusation."

Danneman explained he was referring to cover letters written by Physical Planner Stephen Colyer, which Danneman felt implied town approval for proposals not yet decided by the Zoning Board of Appeals.

Danneman accused Colyer of making false and misleading statements to Thomas Gleason, director of the Homeownership Opportunity Program (HOP) of the Massachusetts Housing Partnership. Danneman and other members felt the cover letters written by Colyer and attached to project applications received by the state insinuated the town was in favor of these affordable housing developments as proposed. Danneman said the particular letters in question referred to the Northwoods, Abbott's Pond, Rogers' Brook and Ballard View proposals.

"It's been brought to my attention that there is a lot more going on in this affordable housing issue," Danneman charged.

AHPC Vice Chairman David Hastings defended Colyer's character, saying "we're not here to bait anybody or hold them up to ridicule. Our purpose is to get affordable housing."

After Monday's meeting, Hastings said he did not believe Colyer "would make unilaterally false statements" on his own, and speculated Colyer may have been "following what he saw to be his instructions."

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony, Colyer's superior, flatly denied knowledge of any letters of approval being written by Colyer.

Late Tuesday morning the selectmen had reviewed the letters and did not think they signified town approval, but conducted a conference call with Gleason to find out how the letters were actually perceived.

Selectman William Dalton told Gleason "I don't want you to think an application going in with a middle management official's signature (on the cover letter) would be the town's approval." Gleason responded he "did not feel Colyer's signature meant total government sign-off on the proposal."

Gleason added "I don't know who filled out the (funding) applications, but the transmittal letter from the town shows an understanding of the development and at least preliminary approval, subsequent to the ZBA decision." It simply shows the town is willing to participate in the particular type of development, he said, and also shows that the developer is talking to the town, rather than going directly to the state.

Andover National Wins District 14 Championship

Bill Batchelder's Andover National All-Stars won the District 14 championship for the second straight year. Andover National defeated Tewksbury National 3-0 behind the brilliant shutout pitching of Justin Hesenius who struck out 11 and gave up three singles.

Andover scored all three runs in the second when, with two out, Kevin Lane and Reiji Hayes walked, Andy Novelline singled up the middle scoring Lane and Mike Sullivan doubled down the line with both runners scoring.

Andover had one other threat in the fourth, but could not score. With a runner on third and one out in the fourth, Hesenius perfectly fielded a squeeze attempt and fired to Lane who blocked the plate and tagged the runner out.

Andover plays the winner from District 13 in the Sectionals on Saturday, Aug. 1, at Poulin Field in Tewksbury.

Allen Maxwell

Reelected President Of Association

Andover resident Allen Maxwell, executive vice president of daka, Inc. in Wakefield, has been reelected president of the Massachusetts Restaurant Association (MRA) for the 1987-88 term. He will oversee all association programs and policies.

Highlights of Maxwell's 1986-87 term as president included the formation of the Political Action Committee (PAC) which helped raise funds for legislation benefitting the foodservice industry, the statewide "I've Got the Key!" designated driver program which has more than 150 members, and a comprehensive public relations campaign which has increased the MRA's visibility among members and the community.

Maxwell, an MRA member since 1973, commented, "As the largest foodservice association in New England, the MRA plays a large role in influencing legislation beneficial to the foodservice industry. I think that PAC can be very successful regarding issues such as liquor liability and I'm looking forward to increasing PAC participation among our members to help pass additional legislation."

As executive vice president of daka, Inc. Maxwell is responsible for all staff functions.

The Massachusetts Restaurant Association is New England's largest foodservice association. Its 2,000 members represent more than 6,000 establishments statewide that employ nearly 150,000 workers. Founded in 1934, the MRA provides legislative support, educational seminars, training programs, insurance opportunities and resource materials for members.

Opinion Sought On Senior Programs

The senior opportunities panel, appointed by the town manager to report on programs for the elderly in Andover, is seeking public opinion and input utilizing a unique approach. The panel has appointed The Rev. Phillips Henderson, interim minister of the First Baptist Church, as ombudsman. All seniors or interested parties who wish to express an opinion or suggestion concerning elder services in Andover are asked to contact Rev. Henderson at the First Baptist Church between 8:30 a.m.

and 12 noon on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday.

The committee, under the leadership of Larry L. Larsen as chairman, includes Rev. Henderson, Dorren Corenti, Janet G. Gerraughy, Thomas Powers, Janet D. Lake, Arthur W. Smith and Gail L. Ralston, liaison to the board of selectmen. The committee is currently meeting once a month and plans to make a formal report in the late fall. All meetings are posted in Town Hall.

Zoning Board Member Named

The selectmen have appointed Pamela Mitchell to replace Elaine Katz as an alternate member of the Zoning Board of Appeals (ZBA). Mitchell, an 18-year resident of Andover, said she sees the ZBA's role as "listening and understanding what's going on, and using that information to make a fair judgment."

Mitchell is a past member of the Council on Aging and neighborhood community watch groups. The selectmen said they will appoint another new member to the ZBA next month.

Hearings Scheduled Thursday

The Andover Zoning Board of Appeals will hold eight public hearings at their next regularly scheduled meeting Aug. 6. The meeting is to be held in the School Committee Conference Room, second floor of the school office building, Whittier St. entrance, at 6:30 p.m.

Permits Licenses Approved

The Selectmen granted three permits and one license during Monday night's meeting.

St. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church of Lawrence received a one-day all-alcoholic license for its Greek Market Place Fair to be held on Chandler Road Sept. 11-13.

The board granted permission to the Andover Fire Department to conduct its Annual Boot Drive for Muscular Dystrophy, Sept. 4 and 5 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in Elm Square.

The Bay State Gas Company was given permission to excavate in three streets. Lowell St. at 400, High St. at 181, and Whiffletree Circle for 47 Lovejoy Road.

Selectmen also gave the go-ahead for the Fourth Annual "Run with CLASS" road race on Friday, Sept. 11, at the Sheraton Rolling Green Inn.

BMX Bike Riding Clinic To Be Held

The Department of Community Services is sponsoring a BMX Bike Riding Clinic at Recreation Park on Abbott Street on Friday, Aug. 14.

BMX freestyle, or bicycle trick riding as it is called, has been one of the fastest growing sports among teens on the west coast for the last 11 years. The Mountain Dew GT Trick Team, which consists of nationally renowned teen riders who have appeared throughout the United States and on national television, will introduce students to BMX safety and instruct them on free style including ground tricks, wedge ramp tricks and quarter-pipe tricks.

The four-hour clinic will begin with a half-hour BMX show at 11:30 a.m. Parental permission is required for all participants who must be at least eight years of age. Registration forms are available at the DCS office in Town Hall from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Retires From ULowell Position

Michael Chory, 466 Massachusetts Avenue, North Andover, a University of Lowell assistant business office manager, retired after more than 19 years of service.

He was one of 23 retirees honored at a recent recognition luncheon. They received framed prints of Cummock Hall, the north campus administration building.

About 300 ULowell staffers and friends turned out for the luncheon under the dining tents on south campus.

Chory's retirement was effective December 31, 1986.

Attends National Leadership Meeting

Richard E. Neal, principal, North Andover Middle School, (left) meets U.S. Representative Chester G. Atkins (D-Mass.) in Washington, D.C., during the sixth annual Leadership Workshop sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals. They discussed critical issues facing education.

Richard E. Neal, principal, North Andover Middle School, North Andover, and Andover school committeeman, met U.S. Representative Thomas Petri (R-Wis) in Washington and discussed key legislative issues facing education with his U.S. Senators and Congressman.

Neal attended a conference July 21-23 sponsored by the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP) for leaders of state education associations. He is president-elect of the Massachusetts Middle Level School Administrators Association.

Neal was one of 50 conference delegates who heard Petri, member of the House Education and Labor Committee, speak on school leadership. Earlier that day Neal discussed two areas of crucial concern before the Congress with his Senators and Representatives: support for reauthorization of the Chapter I program designed to improve basic skills of elementary and secondary school students and support for a continued increase in the Federal investment in education, particularly in math and science instruction, leadership training for principals and improvement of drug education and prevention programs.

'Seniority' Offers Options

"And remember, you have seniority," senior citizens are told on a weekly cable television series airing around the Merrimack Valley and North Shore. "Seniority" a program from Heritage Cablevision in Andover, explores options available to today's senior citizens. Hosts Alfrd and Adele Taylor of Methuen conduct in-studio interviews with guests from all around the state, addressing everything from housing alternatives to health care.

"We have such valuable information on our program," Adele explained. "We educate and enlighten seniors on all types of topics, like choosing health insurance or defending yourself and your home."

Karen Gradzewicz Hayden, the show's producer, videotapes segments on location to add additional impact to the program. "We've gone into nursing homes and shown the positive aspects of life there; we've gone back to school with seniors at Harvard University. We really like to have the seniors tell their own stories."

The Taylors volunteer their efforts saying, "We feel it is a very important thing to do. Senior citizens are living longer than ever before and they need to know what they can do make their years happier and healthier."

The half hour program was started in March 1986 with a preview at the Andover Senior Center. It is aired daily by Heritage Cablevision at 10:30 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. in Andover, North Reading, Dracut and Middleton.

Continental Cablevision Brings "SENIORITY" to Lawrence, Methuen and North Andover on Thursdays at 5:30 p.m.. New England Cablevision, serving Gloucester, Manchester, Rockport, Essex, Amesbury, Salisbury and Merrimac, airs it on Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

At Conference

Current trends taking place in the real estate and relocation arenas were discussed by leading real estate professions from across the nation at the annual conference of Relo/Inter-City Relocation Service in Dallas, TX, July 15-17. Christopher Doherty (left, chairman of Metro Boston RELO, met with RELO President Benjamin Rowe, a Greenwich, CT, real estate broker, during the conference. The conference theme was "Grow With RELO." Doherty is president of J.B. Doherty Associates which is one of nearly 1,200 real estate firms belonging to the RELO network, headquartered in Chicago, that has more than 3,400 member offices in the United States, Canada and overseas.

Receives Donations

The seventh annual "Run for the Kids at Shriners Burns Institute" may have been cancelled, but the institute still got donations.

Elizabeth Grady Face First was to sponsor the Andover race on Easter Sunday, but Joseph Grady, president of Elizabeth Grady Face First, cancelled the race to comply with the wishes of area churches concerned the event would interfere with Easter Sunday services.

Proceeds were to be used to purchase a Space Labs Single Pressure Cardiac Monitor for the Shriners Burns Institute. Despite the cancellation, Elizabeth Grady Face First has kept its commitment to purchase the monitor.

All checks for the entry fee were returned. However, many runners, some of whom were former burn patients, resubmitted their checks to the institute.

Plans are in the works for the eighth annual "Run for the Kids," to be held 24 hours before the Boston Marathon next spring.

Mah Jongg was played in China as early as 500 B.C.

Lifeguarding Course Offered

John H. Carroll, Jr., executive director of the Greater Lawrence Chapter of the American Red Cross, has announced the start of the first lifeguarding program to be taught in the Greater Lawrence area.

This relatively new certification was developed as a result of a need for a higher level of professionalism in lifeguarding. Due to the ever increasing popularity of aquatic recreation and the complexity of lifeguards responsibilities, a training as needed that went beyond the scope of a lifesaving course.

Seventy-four percent of all lifeguards receive their training from the Red Cross. The local chapter expects this figure to be even higher as pool managers and aquatic professionals become more aware of the ramifications of improperly supervised water areas.

Only men and women who hold a current advanced lifesaving certificate will be eligible to take the new course. It will include use of small craft at the Greater Lawrence Community Boating Program along with new methods of specialized equipment rescues and deep water resuscitation efforts. The latest data and practical application of removal from the water will be dealt with at the host site at the Greater Lawrence Technical School and one of the local town beaches. The course will be held August 18, 19, 20, 24 and 25 from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Registration forms are available at the Red Cross office or at the Technical School, 57 River Road, Andover.

Lifeguarding instructor trainer Marilyn Fitzgerald will be assisted by Peter Koehler, John Griffin, Robert Bunting, Shawn Logan and John Machado.

Lisa Erikson, a Tewksbury resident who has appeared in summer stock theater, made it to the second round of Channel 7's talent search. If Erikson makes it to the final showdown in Boston Aug. 12, and wins that, she'll find herself with a full-time job picking the week's lottery numbers and representing the station.

Hundreds Vie For Chance To Pick Lottery Numbers

By Melissa M. De Meo

You wouldn't think so many people would want to read a series of numbers.

But by early afternoon Monday, 300 people had already auditioned for a job picking the Massachusetts lottery numbers live on television. And that was only a third of the numbers of Merrimack Valley residents expected to show up at the Andover Marriott for the try outs.

The event was the brainchild of WNEV-TV Channel 7, which last month was awarded a three-year contract to televise the state lottery drawings. Whoever wins the station's talent search will host the Daily Numbers Game Monday through Saturday, Megabucks twice a week and Mass Millions once a week.

Andover was stop three in a five-city tour to find "an individual who is personable, attractive and well-spoken." Finalists will end up in Boston Aug. 12 for the big decision.

Executive producer Steve Schlow, one of Monday's judges, said they're "looking for a certain kind of magical quality."

What that quality is Schlow couldn't say, but everyone thought they had it.

"I think if I do my best, I will be the best," said Maria Rotondo, 21, of Milford, N.H. Rotondo, who heard about the auditions through a friend, said landing a job with the station would be an excellent career opportunity.

"This would be great, quite an experience," she said.

John Collins of Haverhill agreed. "This is a good way to get into the (TV) business," the 24-year-old radio anchor said.

Most of the auditioners were women. Of the people Schlow saw, only a third were men — trying out for a job that has traditionally been dominated by men.

Everyone had a minute to tell the judges why he or she was the best person for the job.

Some people were well-rehearsed, like Lisa Erikson, 27, of Tewksbury, who had even changed the words of a popular audition song to read: "Should I be sweet and sing of spring and roses? Should I be hot for the spot on TV lottery show?"

Others preferred ad-libbing. "It's just going to be very spontaneous," said Diane Patryn, 34, of Manchester, N.H.

The registration room might have been a dentist's waiting room for all the nervous people it contained. People in taffeta. People in jackets like neon signs. Short and tall. Exuberant and serious.

"You get all kinds," said Samaria Jones of Aid Inc., the temporary service called in to help with the try outs. "You can tell right away who's gonna get the boot."

Erikson's name was called shortly before 4 o'clock. She made sure her nerves were steady, her hair was right and her smile was on full power.

It worked.

She got called back for a second round — the same process as before, only this time in front of a camera.

"Are you nervous?" associate director Ron Milton asked her.

"Very," she said with a nervous laugh. In less than a minute, she was back out the door.

"I think it went all right," she said.

The station has to notify Erikson and approximately 4,000 other hopefuls by Sept. 1. That's when the new host has to start reading the numbers.

Diane Patryn of Manchester, N.H., ad libbed her audition.

Bank Announces 51 Percent Net Income Increase

Andover Savings Bank announced its operating results for the second quarter ended June 30. Net income for the quarter totalled $2,666,000, or 53 cents per common share, compared to $1,761,000 in the second quarter of 1986, representing an increase of 51 percent.

Net income included net securities gains of $552,000 before tax effect in the second quarter of 1987 versus $374,000 in the second quarter of 1986 and a net gain of $147,000 on the sale of mortgage loans in 1987 compared to none for the equivalent quarter in 1986.

Year-to-date net income for 1987 totalled $5,491,000, or $1.09 per share, compared to $3,215,000 for the first six months of 1986. Included in net income are gains on the sales of securities and loans which amounted to $1,575,000 before taxes for the 1987 period, compared to $1,015,000 for the 1986 period.

The bank's assets had grown to $592 million at June 30 and deposits totalled $368 million. The bank's capital to asset ratio now stands at 17.6 percent.

Commenting on the bank's operating results for the first half of 1987, Robert M. Henderson, president of Andover Bank, said, "The bank has responded very well to the economic challenges presented in the second quarter. Despite the upward movement in interest rates in early April which decreased residential loan volume and increased the cost of borrowings, the bank's earnings remain strong. The controlled growth in earning assets in 1987 is the major contributor to the favorable increase in earnings over 1986."

Marriott Financing Arranged

Fowler, Goedecke, Ellis & O'Connor, Inc. (FGE&O), one of Boston's leading mortgage banking firms, has arranged $24 million in financing for the new Andover Marriott Hotel on I-93 in Andover. William J. O'Connor and Sarah Leggat of FGE&O arranged the permanent loan with CIGNA for Ocean Properties of Boca Raton, Florida.

The five-story, 292-room hotel includes a 150-seat restaurant, 325-seat lounge and convention facilities for 750 people. There is an indoor pool, health club and grand ballroom containing 7,128 sq. ft. The hotel's exterior is constructed of brick with bronze-glazed glass windows and more than one third of the guest rooms include balconies.

"The property's proximity to several major interstate highways, metropolitan Boston and many research and development and office parks, make it an exceptional hotel location," said O'Connor.

Fowler, Goedecke, Ellis & O'Connor has secured more than $3 billion in financing since it was established in 1981. Currently servicing more than $1.2 billion in loans, the firm acts as New England mortgage correspondent for ten institutional investors including AETNA, John Hancock, Phoenix Mutual and State Mutual.

Dividend Declared At Bank

The board of directors of Andover Savings Bank declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents per share, payable September 10, 1987, to shareholders of record at the close of business on August 14.

Robert M. Henderson, president and chief executive officer, noted that the quarterly dividend represented the fourth to be paid since the bank converted from a mutual to a stock form of savings bank on May 8, 1986, with the issuance of five million shares of common stock.

The dividend announcement follows strong 1987 year-to-date earnings of $5,491,000 compared to $3,215,000 for the same period in 1986.

Andover Savings Bank is a Massachusetts chartered savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover. The bank also operates branch banking offices in Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Tewksbury.

The bank's assets totalled $592,249,000 on June 30.

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

Outdoor naps are good for the new-born infant, even in cold weather. The baby has enough fat insulation to keep her from getting chilled if she's dressed properly and it's not damp or windy. In the winter, the middle of the day hours are best, and in summer, before or after these hours and in a shaded spot. Down inside a carriage, he/she will be warmer than you are in cool weather, and may need less covering than you think; better to add a blanket after checking, rather than take one off when the baby's hot. If you're staying more than a short time indoors, it's worth the trouble to take off the baby's outdoor clothing.

Andover Theatre Company's summer production of "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas" will be presented August 8 and 9 and 15 and 16 at Memorial Hall Auditorium at Doherty Junior High School.

The well-known musical takes place in a small Texas town where the local whorehouse, or 'chicken ranch,' is doing a successful business, thanks to the local sheriff and most of the local politicians. However, a bible-belt TV evangelist comes to town and creates a statewide issue of the house, forcing the governor to close it down. The ensuing events create a comical play.

Main characters are played by Robin Redman as Miss Mona, Ben Pascucci as Sheriff Ed Earl Dodd and Ryan C. Pothier as the evangelist, Melvin P. Thorpe. They are joined by a cast of 24 local actors.

The play is directed and choreographed by Dennis Lorne. He has been involved in many of the theatre company's successful musical and dramatic productions, most recently in "Peter Pan," "Memories" and "Desperate Hours." Ellen Zipeto is producer and John Zipeto the musical director.

The Andover Theatre Company operates in conjunction with the Department of Community Services.

Disney Classic At Park

The Department of Community Services will present "101 Dalmations" on Monday, Aug. 3, in Central Park. This 79-minute, G-rated film is an animated Disney feature starring two humans, two dogs and 15 puppies. Roger Radcliff is a bachelor songwriter who believes he is enjoying the ideal way of life. However, Pongo, his dalmation, is bored with this existence and decides it is time for him and "his pet" to settle down. Pongo goes about arranging a pair of marriages, one for himself and one for Roger, his human pet. A little dog family soon arrives, 15 pups, all of whom are kidnapped by the evil Cruella DeVill, whose passion is having coats made of dalmation fur.

In the event of rain, the movie will be shown Tuesday evening. The movie is funded in part by the Andover Chamber of Commerce.

Academy Music Groups To Perform In Opera

After more than 60 years North Shore residents and visitors to Cape Ann will be able to attend a fully staged opera complete with soloists, chorus, orchestra and dance in Stillington Hall overlooking Gloucester Harbor.

English composer Henry Purcell's masterpiece "Dido and Aeneas," featuring Jane Struss, Allen Combs and Suzanne Dimmock, will be performed on Friday, July 31, at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Aug. 2, at 3 p.m.

The demanding role of Dido is perfectly suited for Struss. Her superb artistry and dramatic involvement with the music she sings bring a personal expression that is communicated to each member of the audience. It is also fitting that she should have this opportunity to bring her artistry to a hometown Cape Ann audience. As a frequent performer in Boston, Struss welcomes and actively works towards the re-emergence of a musical tradition on Cape Ann that was so prevalent in the pre-depression era of high society involvement with the arts.

Society Band To Perform In Park

The Department of Community Services Summer Concert Series in Central Park continues on Wednesday, Aug. 5, with a performance by the Back Bay Society Band at 6:30 p.m. in front of the bandstand in Central Park.

The members are all residents of the Greater Lawrence and Boston area; many are on the faculty of Berklee College of Music. Paul Wagner, the band leader, has been in the music business for more than 20 years. His background includes writing and producing commercials, performing in theaters, a composer performer and arranger for summer stock and doing commercial performance dates in the Greater New England area. Wagner is a record reviewer and writer for the Saxophone Journal, Inc., the world's largest magazine devoted entirely to the saxophone.

In the event of rain, the concert will be held Thursday evening. The August 12 concert will feature Bill Scism's Jazz Band.

In 1610 Capt. Samuel Argall was blown off course near a cape on our eastern seaboard. He immediately named it for his sponsor, Lord De La Warr. It became the state of Delaware.

Music is being provided by a professional orchestra compiled by William Thomas, director of the music department at Phillips Andover Academy. The 30-member chorus is also affiliated with Phillips Andover and dance has been choreographed by Mimi Ferrell.

A picnic-serenade will take place an hour and a half before each performance in the gardens and grounds at Stillington. The Brass Quartet will be stationed in the courtyard that looks out over the wooded hillside to Gloucester Harbor and Eastern Point. Advance reservations are recommended because of limited amount of seating. A picnic-style dinner may be ordered along with tickets for the performance.

Stillington Hall is located on Quarry Road off Western Avenue (Route 127S).

Care Bears Inhabit The Park

The Department of Community Services will present "The Care Bears Movie" on Monday, Aug. 10, in Central Park. This G-rated film features Mickey Rooney as the voice of Mr. Cherrywood.

The Care Bears travel far above the earth to the sunshine land known as Care-A-Lot. In this magical retreat, the Care Bears keep a close watch for people in need of caring. Meanwhile, in another land, an evil spirit is set free, casting spells to remove all caring and feeling from the world. The Care Bears work to rid this bad spirit of its power and once again lock it away from the caring world.

"The Care Bears Movie" is a 75-minute animated, fast-paced motion picture. Movie begins at dusk. Don't forget bug spray, blankets and plenty of popcorn. In the event of rain, the movie will be shown Tuesday evening. This movie is funded in part by the Arlington Trust Company.

We've been handling change for 118 years.

Since Wakefield Savings Bank opened in 1869, we've been through a lot with you. The Panics of 1873, 1893 and 1929. The Great Hurricane of '38. The decline of textiles and the rise of bootlegging; the Boston Braves and the Boston Lobsters; high camp and high tech: it's not just the weather that's constantly changing in New England.

People look to banks for stability in volatile times. But to help its customers prosper, a bank must also understand when to be flexible, when to bend with the winds of change.

If anything, the pace of change is accelerating. It gets more difficult every year for the average individual to understand the financial world. And that makes our responsibility to our customers even greater.

We'd just like you all to know that we welcome that responsibility, and appreciate your trust. Now and in the future, we pledge to be a bank you can count on.

Pennacook Park

Pennacook Park had another fabulous week. The campers planted kidney bean plants on Monday and could see progress by Friday. Wednesday was the Peanut Carnival at Central Park. Glenn MacVicar and Amy Griffin showed their football expertise as they both threw three footballs through a tire. Denise Carriere, Meg Johnston and Shelly Cogger won prizes in the water pistol game. Julie Sullivan led aerobic dancing on Friday morning and showed some neat steps. Returning from last year are Glenn MacVicar, Shelly Cogger, Ddenise Carriere, Amy Griffin, Gioia Ssapienza and Meg Johnston. They gave a warm welcome on Monday, July 6, two newcomers Alicia Rosenbaum and Whitney McLaughlin. That week included soccer games, dodgeball, softball and swimming each day in the Phillips Academy pool. Toniann, academic supervisor, gave some helpful hints each day.

Bancroft

On Monday everyone had fun using their skills in a game of "seat basketball." Scoring was easy for Chris Corcoran, Brian Cutler and Jen Munroe. Sponge painting was enjoyed by Alison Bicknell, Megan Monroe and Felicity Turmenne. Tuesday was rainy, but Bryan Roth, Tony Morando, Matt Trede and Jimmy Landry and especially Laura didn't seem to mind because they were already wet from a water balloon toss. Chris and Jason McCue were winners of the toss. Selling popsicles at the Peanut Carnival on Wednesday was easy, with the help of Matt Cole, Chris Brown and Allen and Steven Mackey. Brian Landry and Dane Trede helped run the football-throwing game while awesome performances were put on at the air band contest by "Kiss" (Bob and Mike Dalton, Jim Landry and Jason McCue) and "The Four Flops" (Chris, Paul and Todd Allard and Ryan Lynch). On Thursday "The Baby Picture Game" brought out adorable baby pictures of the Daltons, Dan Trede, Ginny Waldie and Megan Roth. Jen Munroe and Matt Cole split a giant chocolate bar as their prize for identifying the most pictures.

Sanborn

The pajama-pizza party was a fun way to spend a muggy day. Those who dressed in loungewear also brought stuffed animals for a pet show. Allyson Schweig, Audra Martellini, Charlotte and Sarah Muller, Erin McConville, Pammy Muller, Elaine Yee and Melissa Portorreal were proud owners of such well-behaved animals as Potato Chip, Lilac, Chubs, Doggy, Lamby and Fuzzball. Eight large pizzas topped off the day. Chad and Todd Collins, Andy DeBenedictis and Jonathan Schweig could set a world's record for Papa Gino's. While baseball and kickball are the most favored sports, many tried their skill at a game of crab soccer in the gym. Crafts this week included god's eyes, funny looking spaceships and bead jewelry. Tamar Carroll, Meredith Schweig, Sarah and Andrea Martin and Heather Tessier have very creative hands. Wednesday's Peanut Carnival in the park was the highlight of the week. "Lindsay and Sweethearts" did a great performance of "Lollipop." Lindsay Strube, Meredith Schweig, Shannon Breen, Melissa Portorreal, Julie and Ellen Mullane and Erin Croteau were red hot dancers. Counselors Cheryl and Kathleen joined Amy Wimley, Amanda Firicano and Meghan Workman for "I Get Around" by the Beach Boys. Others enjoyed the food and games and Meredith, Andrea, Sarah and Melissa enjoyed the face painting. The week ended with parachute games and a traditional cookout.

South

South playground began week number four eager to participate in activities not played the week before due to the extreme heat. Much of the early morning was consumed by an energetic game of soccer. The girls challenged the boys and were sorry they had. Solid competitors included Rocky Tradd, Lee Farr, Ricky Crispo, Tim and Mike Sheehy, Sue Doucette, Leanna Mills and Scott DeCourcy. A more civilized game of musical chairs followed with Megan Buckley, Rocky Tradd, Rich Kadulski, Liz Turs, Charles and Patrick Murnane and Emily Ulrich just a few of the participants. Tuesday morning opened with a game of circle dodgeball; Eric Milligan, Michelle Crispo, Chris Marchetti, Susie Burns, Diana Correnti, Vanessa Blank, Shira Hermosa and Dan Mooney found themselves doing most of the dodging while Vanessa Scar-beau, Jennie Murnane, Andrea Murino, Paul Sibell and Lauren Torbes played a peaceful game of dead dog. The overall winner was Chris Lustig. Wednesday was Peanut Carnival in Central Park. John and Paul Sibelle, Anthony Correnti, Kristi Barrow, Jenny Aylward, Susie Burns, Shira Hermosa, Jenny Murnane and Robin Hall participated in the Air Band competition. South's hockey team donned their equipment on Thursday morning and rode bikes to Bancroft in a continuing series of town-wide hockey games. Bancroft took both games in the sweltering heat of their gym. Game one opened with Dan Mooney in net, Lee Farr and Allan Soorg on defense and Rocky Tradd, Mark Escott and Ryan starting up front. Friday was the second annual Pa-

Women, Negotiations & Divorce

Most property and custody settlements are reached through negotiations rather than litigation. Negotiations can be difficult when a marriage has broken down and feelings have been hurt. You may fear that you will be overpowered in this process by both your husband and your attorney, and be coerced into accepting a settlement which does not meet your needs. The advice of an attorney both knowledgeable in family law and sensitive to your fears and wishes can help you assert your rights and negotiate a fair settlement. Contact Judith L. Nathanson, whose practice is limited to representing women in family law matters.

West

The annual egg toss contest was held on Monday and things got a little messy. Jaime Treico and David Bromberg won first prize, a giant Hershey bar. Second place went to Jeremy Roux and Brian Tisbert. Andy Cohen got the worst of it when Jenn Milne tried to fry an egg on his head. Tuesday West prepared for its show at the Peanut Carnival. West outshined all the other air bands led by Peter Edgely singing "The Heart of Rock and Roll." Cameron Arnoit and Andy Cohen did "Girls, Girls, Girls," by Molley Cove. It was great. Amy Cohen and Angela Roux did "Never" by Heart and it was a smash. Olympics Day was on Thursday and Friday was a cookout. Everything tasted great because Spanky (David Charland) cooked it. Mathew Cedrone won the pie eating contest.

Shawsheen

Bean tambourines was the craft for the day. Naomi Tuman, Jesse Whitworth, Andy Timko and Fair McClaren had the Shaw-Nee room jumping, while Erika Bastian, Nathan Mackenzie, Joshua Reef and Jake Minton had everyone marching in the Shee-Hee room. Staff member Kim Wilkins turned 17 and managed to blow out all the candles on the cake made by Melanie Margaret Adams, Roopa Shah, Melissa Lemay made long-stemmed roses while Tisa McCarter preferred a "no-stem" look. Staff member Brendan McGrail made some beauties. The pom pom people arrived in the Shee-Hee room. What a colorful display Mark Brown, Danile Rubin and Joseph Deering created! Sarah Cote gets cleanest camper of the week award.

Ha-Kow-Wee

Colorful friendship bracelets were made out of embroidery floss on Monday. Richard Sullivan, Courtney Cunningham and Judit Vajda made some of the best bracelets. The afternoon was filled with games of bocce in which Sabina Barry, Christopher McNulty, Jesse Gallagher, Shawn Flynn and Michael Burton were star players. Jason Shaw, John Nadeau, Carroll Cunningham, Christie Cunningham, Andrew Owen, Brian Nadeau and Leanne Shaw played cat and mice and made a tent with the parachute. Wimbelton came to Rec Park as Philip DiBlasi and Brad Belisle battled it out on the court for the championship. A bike trip was taken to Rose Glen Dairy on Tuesday. Christie Cunningham rewarded herself with a large banana split. Brad Belisle and Jeff Hinxman enjoyed bubble gum ice cream. Andrew Owens, Kelly O'Neil, Sabina Barry, Jason Shaw, Stephanie Buck, Sean Barry and many others survived the long trek to the dairy. Sean Corey bought popcorn for the ducks at the pond there. Jeff Irvine and John Nadeau learned how to play the new game of air hockey. Courtney Cunningham and Bernie Vajda helped finish off the flashy guitars for Wednesday's air band competition. Richard Sullivan, Philip DiBlasi, Leanne Shaw, Samantha Fee and Stephanie Ciampa danced to the Beastie Boys song "You Have to Fight for your Right to Party." Courtney Cunningham, Jennifer Buck, Karen Babine and Bernie Vajda performed to Janet Jackson's "What Have you Done for me Lately?" Everyone won bagfuls of peanuts at the Peanut Carnival. Thanks to everyone for their help, especially to Andrew Owen who came up with the idea of a race between two people to see who could extinguish their candle first with squirt guns.

Profiles in Caring

Nursing at Lawrence General Hospital

Maryellen Zizis, R.N.

Providing "bedside" nursing is what Maryellen Zizis, R.N., likes most about her job. "I came to Lawrence General because I could concentrate on the patient care aspects of nursing," recalls Maryellen. "I like being the advocate for the patient, being at the bedside, responsible for the patient's welfare."

Since graduating from Mass Bay Community College in 1969, Maryellen has practiced her special brand of nursing at Lawrence General. In May she was selected by her fellow nurses on the Hamblet-2 unit as an outstanding medical/surgical nurse. When she and 16 other nurses were honored at a luncheon on Nurse Recognition Day, Maryellen was the lucky winner of a $1000 scholarship for a professional seminar of her choice. Maryellen, a native of Watertown, lives in Wilmington with her husband, Frank, and their two sons, Eric, 16, and Mark, 14.

This is the fourth in a series of articles featuring Lawrence General Hospital nurses who have been selected by their peers as outstanding in their profession.

Starting A Business In Massachusetts

When starting a small business in Massachusetts, the product or service must be the major consideration, but factors like location, name, license requirements, zoning restrictions, etc., must also be considered. Contact the local zoning board for restrictions on a business location. Citizen Information Service will provide information on license requirements. The U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) will provide information and assistance on many aspects of starting a business, from devising a business plan to advertising.

Once the product or service has been developed, the form the business will take must be considered. To incorporate, register with the Corporations Division, Office of the Secretary of State. Incorporation provides legal structure for the business, limits liability to the amount of the business assets and protects the use of the corporate name to the limited extent that no other business may incorporate in Massachusetts under that name.

The minimum incorporation fee is $150, but the procedure may cost an average of $400 to $1,000, including attorney and/or accountant fees. A sole proprietor or a general partnership operating a business under a name other than their own and not incorporated must register a D.B.A. or doing-business-as certificate with the city or town clerk's office of the city or town in which the business is operating. This costs from $2 to $17.50, depending on the city or town and is basically for public record purposes.

A limited partnership, a business in which one partner is only liable for his financial investment, is also registered with the Corporations Division. The S corporation is a legal entity that pays no corporate tax. Shareholders report profit or loss on their individual income tax return. Check with the Internal Revenue Service to meet tax requirements to qualify a business as an S corporation on both the federal and state level.

John Bentley stands in the background of a group of cyclists he led on a bike ride last Thursday. Not pictured is the other leader, David Williams.

How To Ride A Bike

The following are tips on bicycle riding provided by John Bentley and David Williams, who lead a bike ride Thursday evenings from the town offices parking lot.

It is best to ride single file, as far to the right as practical. Riding on the left facing traffic is illegal in most states and is very dangerous. This practice results in many bike-car accidents each year and has even caused head-on collisions with other bicyclists who were riding correctly.

Except on bike trails, cycling two abreast is not a good idea unless there is next to no traffic.

When cycling with one or more friends you must cooperate so closely that you actually think for each other. This takes some learning but is not difficult. An example would be two friends pedaling side by side on a bike trail. As they approach a carelessly parked bicycle on the right, the outside rider must pull out far enough not only so he can get around the bike, but far enough for his friend to get around also. If he doesn't pull out far enough, the friend is forced to ram the parked bike, and that's a good way to lose friends.

Vehicles with large rear view mirrors mounted on the right side are seen in increasing numbers on the highways. Not only are these dangerous to anyone beside the roadway, but these recreation vehicles are often rented, and the new drivers are unaccustomed to this added width. A biker just standing beside the road can be wiped out by one of these large mirrors.

Riding in a pack to break the wind is often done, but practice with your group or companion a great deal before the trip, as this procedure calls for good coordination and timing. Be certain your cycle is in good running order. Good brake blocks, properly adjusted, and strong brake cables are important, as well as having all nuts tight. Investigate any strange noise emanating from your cycle immediately. When your bike talks to you like this, listen to it, it is trying to tell you something.

A few simple checks are to see if wheels turn freely; test for excess play in wheels, headset, and cranks; see that brake blocks do not rub on tires and that seat and handlebars are secure. A very simple test is to pick your bike up and shake it. Investigate any rattle.

Selectmen

Dalton then asked if Gleason was aware the proposal sent in may differ greatly from what the ZBA might approve. Gleason stated "I did understand it that way. The final proposal may differ. The approval was in concept only."

In his presentation to the selectmen, Danneman quoted a line from the Ballard View proposal, which is still being heard by the ZBA, that read "no community groups have opposed the project." Then, referring to an accompanying cover letter to Gleason signed by Colyer, Danneman wondered aloud how Colyer could have "deliberately misrepresented" community reaction to the proposal.

Danneman also asked how a single town employee could solicit funds from a state agency (the MHP runs the HOP funding program) without the knowledge of the selectmen or the ZBA.

On Tuesday, Colyer, who had not attended the selectmen's meeting, explained he had written the cover letter "to alert the state that this is what our people are looking at." He said the actual applications are filled out by the developers, not by town personnel.

Having the state examine the proposal informs them of potential new housing for which the developer may seek state funding. "It's the state's program," Colyer said, "we're helping them out with it."

Town Manager Kenneth Mahony stated Colyer "acted in an appropriate manner, and did nothing illegal." Mahony said he is "completely supportive" of Colyer's efforts to aid Gleason by alerting him to new proposals in town. Mahony added he "plans no action" against Colyer.

Dalton said he is concerned the rift between the AHPC and the town could jeopardize local affordable housing initiatives. "Affordable housing is a primary goal," Dalton remarked, "but with bad chemistry like this, the goal could be going out the window."

AHPC members believe they have a right to submit recommendations on all previous proposals—even those submitted before the committee was formed, but when Gleason was asked if this would be appropriate, he disagreed. "No," he said, "They may as individuals go to open hearings, but those (proposals) are grandfathered under the old process"—without AHPC input as an official body.

Gleason was also asked about recommendation procedure for the committee. Although some AHPC members contended they are related to the MHP, Gleason commented they are actually a town body, coming under local charter.

Danneman said the AHPC wants to work with other town boards. "We don't want to make decisions and force them on the town—we want to help the whole town to make decisions."

Hastings said he sees the AHPC's responsibility as "making recommendations to the selectmen on proposals." He stated the committee wants affordable housing, but does not want to disturb the "quality of life" in the process.

The Andover Town Charter set up a board of selectmen as chief authority. They may in turn delegate their chief executive officer, in this case the town manager, to oversee committees. This is what the selectmen have now done.

Under the selectmen's plan, the AHPC will review future proposals and submit their recommendations to Mahony, who will then get staff recommendations. If all parties agree, the recommendation will be sent to the selectmen for signatures and passed on to the state. If the various recommendations do not coalesce, the selectmen will make a final decision which will be forwarded to the state.

The AHPC would like to require developers to make a presentation to the committee and Gleason agreed that "Yes, I think they can do that" as long as the developers are told at the time of submission that they should. Developers are currently told to appear before an inter-departmental review and the planning board, although regulations require developer appearance only before the ZBA. If the developer does not agree to appear before these various bodies, the state will take note of the lack of cooperation.

Silverman said the earlier proposals sent to the state by Colyer did not include signatures from the selectmen because "there was no form that required a signature." Under the new process, he continued, the AHPC will "definitely be involved" in comprehensive permit proposals.

AHPC members worry the new procedure could allow town officials to change the committee's recommendation. Dalton commented to do so would defeat the purpose of the AHPC as a "consensus builder" within the town. The selectmen "will submit our own findings," Dalton said. "But we won't change the AHPC findings. We're not going to censor them," he stressed, "we don't operate that way."

Gleason commented the state would see a major discrepancy in recommendations as a "red flag" and may not fund the project. Yet, he added "They (AHPC) are not totally autonomous. They help direct affordable housing." Gleason commented the state does not expect a unanimous decision by all involved, but simply a consensus of opinion.

If it happens to be the AHPC members who are "unsatisfied" with a final selectmen's decision, "as private citizens they may submit individual letters—or they can resign" from the AHPC.

In a more general vein, Gleason was asked what the AHPC's priority should be—to deal with the Champy/Shetland and Perkins/Stevens lands designated by the town for affordable housing, or to make recommendations on comprehensive permits. Gleason would not commit himself, saying only "I think it's important the community set its own course."

Michigan Folk Artist Has Show In Andover

By Melissa De Meo

Last Sunday, Michele Bourgeau-Sempere had company. A lot of company.

First there was her sister, Barbara Bourgeau-Richards, and her family from Michigan, plus approximately 50 others.

The occasion? A display of Bourgeau-Richards' folk art.

"I love my sister's work, and I'm proud of her," said Bourgeau-Sempere of 119 Lowell St., who hosted a similar art show last year, only on a smaller scale. "I'm really excited about her success."

Bourgeau-Richards, a self-taught water color artist, her husband, Kirk Richards, and 20 representatives have been taking her simple, rural scenes to shops around the country.

Monday, they were at Proper Seasons, a Park Street gift shop that now sells some Bourgeau-Richards lithographs.

"We got four orders from the Cape in three weeks," Richards said. "People love them."

Richards said he took 11 of his wife's works to a printer in Michigan and had 1,000 lithographs made of each. An additional six went to make up a "mini series" of lower priced prints. Prices range from $22.50 for mini prints to $85 for one of the limited edition pieces in a frame.

Bourgeau-Richards took up her palette a year and a half ago, after recovering from a serious bout of rheumatoid arthritis. Her husband, a middle school math teacher, decided to take the prints to stores near their Romeo, Mich., home. He said they've been well-received.

"They sell best at shops like fine gift stores and antique shops because they go with antiques, with Victorian styles," he said.

Bourgeau-Richards described folk art as "a very simple style. There's a lot of warmth to it."

She said she draws her inspiration from her family. One painting, "Stephanie's Dream Bunny," is an illustration of a

To Headline LGH Benefit

Multi-talented entertainer Neil Sedaka has been signed to perform at the Oct. 30 benefit ball sponsored by the Lawrence General Hospital Foundation and the LGH Aid Association, it was announced by the ball's general co-chairmen, Edna Thomas and Joshua L. Miner.

This year's gala will be held at the Marriott Hotel in Andover and have "Masquerade" as its theme. Dress is black tie with mask. Susan Redgate and Charles Matses are chairmen of the event committee. Robin Neill, Abe Bashara and Ned Bjornson are chairing the benefit sponsorship committee. For ticket information, call the LGH Foundation.

Proceeds will support the Lawrence General Advanced Life Support (ALS) service. When it is fully operational this fall, the ALS service will have an emergency response vehicle staffed by specially trained paramedics available 24 hours a day, every day, to bring a more sophisticated level of care to the patient at the site of an accident or emergency.

Sedaka has won countless awards during his more than 30-year career as a singer, musician and songwriter. His hits included the now classic "Happy Birthday Sweet Sixteen," "Breaking Up is Hard to do," "Stupid Cupid," "Calendar Girl" and "Next Door to an Angel."

Although Sedaka began songwriting at the age of 13 with his neighbor and friend, Howard Greenfield, it wasn't until after they signed with Aldon Music, Don Kirshner's company, that they began to produce hit songs. Housed in the Brill Building, 1650 Broadway, Aldon Music launched such talents as Carole King and Gerry Goffin, Neil Diamond, Bobby Darin, Jerry Leiber and Mike Stoller. At one period in the early 1960s, Brill Building writers took credit for the majority of Top 40 songs on the pop charts. Sedaka sold more than 25 million copies of his records between 1959 and 1963.

An alumnus of the Julliard School of Music, Sedaka has written more than 1,000 songs. He was inducted into the Songwriters' Hall of Fame and has the distinction of being honored with dozens of awards for songs played more than 400,000 times on radio and television, including five tunes that surpassed the million mark.

Hiroshima Day Vigil

The North Andover People for Peace will sponsor an evening of peace activities on the North Andover Common on Thursday, Aug. 6. Local singer/songwriter Pat Scanlon and his partner, Holly Gettings, will start the activities with contemporary peace songs at 7 p.m. A silent candlelight vigil in remembrance of the victims of Hiroshima and Nagasaki will follow. Participants will receive a folded paper crane, the symbol of the survivors of Hiroshima.

August 6 marks the 42nd anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima, the first use of nuclear weapons in warfare. An estimated 70,000 persons were killed or missing and another 70,000 were injured in the atomic blast over Hiroshima on August 6, 1945. Others suffered the long-term effects of radiation. Three days later, a second atomic bomb was dropped on the city of Nagasaki.

Two representatives of the Women's Peace Caravan, Alice Wiser, a doctoral student in London, and Catherine Mutura, a citizen and teacher in Kenya, will join Thursday's vigil. Wiser has traveled to 40 countries to gather facts on her study, "Women as Peacemakers." Mutura is pursuing her studies in Paterson, N.J. They will lead a brief forum in nearby North Parish Unitarian Church following the vigil. The role of women in peace work and the connection between warfare and poverty will be discussed. Marsha Mason, member of North Andover People for Peace and coordinator for the New England visit of the peace caravan, will serve as moderator.

Participants are asked to bring a candle for themselves and one for a friend. Following the vigil, refreshments will be served in North Parish Church.

The vigil and forum are open to all.

Communion Sunday At Vale

The Sacrament of Holy Communion will be celebrated at this Sunday's 10 a.m. Family Service at the Ballard Vale United Church (a United Methodist and United Church of Christ congregation). The Rev. Gary S. Cornell will have "A Eucharistic Story," based on the story of Jesus feeding the 5,000 in the 14th chapter of the Gospel according to Matthew, will be his preaching theme. The new organized men's chorus will sing for the first time at this Service. The group will sing two hymns, "O God Our Help in Ages Past" and "Spirit of the Living God."

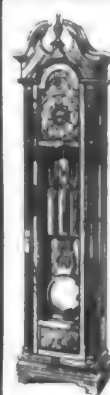

This Sunday will be observed as Neighbors in Need Sunday and all food received during the past month will be offered in thanksgiving. A time for fellowship and light refreshment will follow the worship service.

Andover Personnel, a long established Greater Lawrence firm, is opening a second office at Gateway on Route 110 in Westford.

Judie Post, president of the company, reports that the strong employment market combined with the outstanding growth of the Westford area make it advantageous to expand this temporary and permanent placement business. Just as the Andover office has placed office support and professional candidates for more than 20 years, the new facility will be a full service employment agency with no fee to the applicant.

The new office will be known as The 495 Connection-Westford Employment, while the Andover office will be The 495 Connection-Andover Personnel.

Recital

The Andover Cable Advisory Committee sponsors this series showing each week at 10 a.m. Monday; 2 p.m. Tuesday; 4 p.m. Wednesday; 7 p.m. Thursday.

Crackdown Effective

After a seven-month long Registry of Motor Vehicles crackdown on motorists who illegally pass school buses, Registrar Robert M. Hutchinson, Jr. announced a decrease in the number of pupil fatalities and a noticeable increase in driver awareness.

Last December registry police statewide began riding school buses and in marked and unmarked cars, watching for motorists who pass school buses loading and unloading children with red lights flashing.

Since the program's inception, the number of pupil fatalities has dropped from an average of three during preceding years to one during the 1986-87 school year, the number of citations issued decreased from more than 100 in the fall to less than ten a week in the spring and the number of bus driver complaints has fallen from several a day to virtually none.

Ballard View Condo Plan Reviewed By Planning Board

By Karen L. Day

The Planning Board conducted a site plan review of the proposed "Ballard View Condominiums" affordable housing development, currently before the Zoning Board of Appeals, at their last meeting, July 21. Their recommendations will be forwarded to the ZBA.

Board members agreed housing is the best use for the 4.65 acre parcel, located off Dale St. in Ballardvale, but cited density and traffic as major problems with this particular proposal.

Proposed are 139 units in a five and one-half story housing structure. Amenities would include a two-story clubhouse, a pool, tennis courts and a tot lot.

Although all land in question is upland, there is a density of 28 units per acre. Chairman Michael Houghton and board member Russ Moran both commented density should be no higher than 15 units per acre.

"My first sense is there is too much on that little piece of land," said Houghton, "It pushes beyond what it should be for a reasonable living environment."

In defense of the proposed density, Neil Glick, representing the developer, cited the current 70-unit condominium development on 1.8 Railroad Ave. acres. According to Glick, this proposal has about one-third the density of the Railroad Ave. development.

In a memo to the board, town planner Laura Hill commented the average neighborhood density is 11 units per acre. Analyzing multi-family development in the area alone, the average rises slightly, to 11.4 units per acre. The average density of the comprehensive permits already approved by the ZBA town-wide is 7.7 units per acre, added Hill.

Houghton commented the "backyard sized" pool and two tennis courts would not meet the recreational needs of all the residents. There was concern children would cut across the MBTA tracks to reach the neighborhood park for recreation.

According to Glick, the safety problem which could occur by building so close to the railroad tracks will be eradicated by erecting fences along the development's border.

Moran questioned the fact that most of the so-called "affordable units" are proposed to be single bedroom or small two-bedroom units. "We need family housing," he said.

Abuttor Charles Cronin started the traffic discussion, commenting the development's access road location close to the Eastern Rubber plant entrance will make it difficult to maneuver trucks. Others explained area traffic in general is already a problem.

Glick explained industrial use, for which the land is actually zoned, would incite further traffic problems than would a housing use. A comprehensive traffic study is being done by a consultant hired by the ZBA before it casts a decision on the proposal.

Drainage from the impervious cover would be directed into an abutting A.V.I.S property from catchbasins and culverts along the northerly end of the site. Planning staff thus recommended the board ask the ZBA to incorporate any Conservation Commission suggestions into their decision.

When the board asked about water and sewage, they were told the DPW had not yet submitted its report on the developer's intentions to meet those needs for the development.

Proposed is a 12-inch water main, looping around the main building and tying into both the Dale St. and Andover St. water systems.

The board voted to notify the ZBA that although residential use is preferred for the property, they have the above stated concerns.

In other business:

The board voted developer proposed condition changes on two lots of the Spencer Court subdivision are not field changes. It will be necessary for the developer to petition for a formal site plan revision.

A final extension has been voted for the Watson Farm Estates allowing the developer to address Conservation Commission concerns regarding drainage.

In its final action, the board voted to set a $14,425 bond for 30 days for Doyle Circle. No building permits will be issued until the road is completed through binder course, with water and sewer installed and approved.

Parking Committee Renamed To Examine Downtown Area

By Lewis C. Howe

The selectmen have re-appointed the Parking Committee, and have asked the group to examine the downtown parking space shortage.

The committee was created for another year at Monday's meeting after Central St. residents complained business and commuter parking was spilling into their neighborhood. "The commuters and employees are slowly parking further down Central St.," complained David Riddiford, 1 Old South Lane, "it's not fair for residential neighborhoods to have to put up with commuter parking."

Riddiford, speaking on behalf of his neighbors, asked for the installation of two-hour parking signs along Central St. It is imperative to keep the road clear of parked cars, he said, because "Central St. is a speedway" and parked vehicles create a visibility problem.

Selectman William Dalton

agreed, adding "there will be a fatality there someday" if drivers do not exercise more caution on the road.

When Selectman Charles Weston recommended turning Riddiford's complaint over to the parking committee, it was pointed out the organization had not been appointed for this year. The selectmen must appoint certain bodies each year as a rule of procedure.

Riddiford's wife, Virginia, also spoke on the downtown auto space race, suggesting stickered commuter parking. She charged the parking committee had attended to certain areas at the expense of others. "We can shoot a cannon down Park St., it's so clear," Mrs. Riddiford quipped, "but the cars spill over to other streets. We're not looking at the total picture."

Chris Holmes, a member of the parking committee, answered this by saying "we want to solve the quick problems, but we also certainly want to look at it long-term."

Holmes said while several members of last year's committee wanted to continue their work, there are openings for other concerned citizens.

In other business, the selectmen decided to send a letter to state Attorney General James Shannon asking for an opinion on whether the motion to dissolve the April Town Meeting was legal.

Town Clerk Elden Salter said he recalled being told "many years ago that the warrant had to be complete before a Town Meeting is considered over."

The ongoing controversy stems from accusations made by John Doyle, 40 Reservation Road, that Moderator James Doherty acted improperly in dissolving Town Meeting, since a handful of articles had not been acted on.

Fixing Parking Crunch Would Be Costly

By Karen L. Day

Between $382,750 and $404,000 will have to be spent to eradicate current Central Business District parking problems—if planning staff recommendations are implemented by the Andover Planning Board.

The board will be discussing a recent Vanasse/Hangen parking study and the staff's subsequent recommendations at their Aug. 11 meeting.

Town Planner Laura Hill, in a summary to the board, stated the implementation of the recommendations would generate between $187,000 and $212,000 for the town each year. After yearly operational costs, the town would net between $110,000 and $135,000.

Referring to parking study data, Hill commented the three major downtown parking lots at Old Andover Village, Park Street Village and the Old Town Hall are fully utilized. This means between 85 and 90 percent of the lots' physical capacity is being used during the peak noon hour.

Spaces on the central Main St. blocks, Central St. and Chestnut St. are well utilized, while, conversely, spaces on Florence St., Whittier St., and portions of Park and Bartlett streets are under utilized.

The study divided the central business district into six areas and overall, there are 108 surplus spaces not being used during peak hour. Although deficits are found in some of the six areas, they are made up for by surpluses in other areas.

Development planned for the next five years will further tax downtown parking, but planned parking areas, like the 81-space lot at Memorial Hall library, will pick up much of the demand. Expected is a surplus of 105 spaces overall after the currently planned development.

The study cites "inconsistent compliance" with parking regulations, especially along Chestnut, Central and Essex streets and West of Main St. Greater enforcement is needed in several unmetered, but sign regulated areas.

After reviewing all study data provided, Hill forwarded numerous written recommendations for Planning Board action.

Citing the fact that 74 percent of the parking spaces are time limited by either meters or signs, Hill recommends some short-term, curbside spaces be transferred to long-term use for employees in the district. Additionally, parking meter hours in the Park Street Village lot should be increased to ten hour increments. Two hundred meters, to be installed at all curbside spaces remaining for short-term use, was also suggested.

A study should be conducted to determine the length of time parking should be allowed in the Memorial Hall Library lot. At minimum, Hill comments, two-hour meters should be installed and parking validation coupons be used.

To increase area parking in the shopping district, the restriping of the Old Andover Village parking lot, creating 27 additional spaces, is suggested. This would cost the town $2500.

Hill also recommends the town purchase a vacant parcel at 33-35 Elm St. to create a surface parking area for downtown area employees. Fifty-two parking spaces could be created at a cost of between $254,000 and $404,000.

As far as parking supply is concerned, Hill suggests an overall increase in the number of long-term parking spaces. For commuters working in the central business district, a permit parking program, allowing commuter parking in long-term spaces from eight to ten a.m. should be instituted. Parking would not be allowed in these spaces before 8 a.m.

In the area of enforcement, Hill suggests the need for the addition of two enforcement officers, one full-time and one part-time. Another recommendation was to increase fines for various parking violations—some of these would be double

Pit Bulls Here Pose No Current Problem

By Lewis C. Howe

A Winthrop man is threatened with eviction from his apartment after his landlord calls the tenant's pit bull terrier "a threat to his neighbors." A Lawrence man dies of a heart attack after being chased by two pit bulls. There have been a dozen reported human deaths at the hands of pit bulls in the last eighteen months nationwide.

In spite of this, the nationwide clamor to quell carnage from crazed killer canines has not occurred in the Andover community, according to town Animal Control Officer Wayne Nader.

Nader said the media-fed brouhaha concerning pit bull terriers has not resulted in any unusual increase of complaints about local dogs. "There were a couple of calls about dogs that turned out not to be pit bulls," he commented. "The dogs were other breeds mistaken for the pit bull."

While there are "a couple" of pit bulls residing in Andover, Nader said as yet there have been no problems reported with the dogs. "This doesn't mean there won't be," he cautioned, adding he does not want to say the terriers are not dangerous "because the next day one of them could turn around and bite somebody, and it would backfire on me."

There is no separate policy for dealing with pit bulls at this time, Nader said. The Animal Control Officer believes "pit bulls are like any other breed, there's just been a lot of controversy about them." Nader stated "any dog can be vicious" if it is trained to be that way, and pit bulls are no different. "You can take a damn poodle and make it an attack dog," he remarked, "but it won't be very effective."

National statistics show that, since the beginning of 1986, two-thirds of dog-related fatalities have resulted from pit bull attacks.

The 'pit bull' is actually comprised of two major breeds. The American Staffordshire terrier, considered to be less vicious, and the more aggressive American pit bull terrier, which is often trained as an attack dog.

Pit bulls generally are identified by their blocky heads and short, glossy coats. They may be any color, weight between 20 and 100 pounds, and have either red or black noses.

The difference in the bite of the pit bull is in the dog's powerful jaws and sharp teeth, which allow it to clamp down and tear flesh, rather than merely biting it like most other breeds.

Nader said he "always receives more complaints" about all types of dogs in the summertime, usually from irate neighbors who witness "loose dogs running through their yards and causing problems."

One common beef is the violation of Andover's leash law, which requires any dog to be restrained by a leash of not more than six feet in length when the dog is not on its owner's property. "We get a lot of calls on that," Nader said.

Jason McCue, 14, and Jim Landry, 13, emulate the band Kiss. The two with their fellow band members lipsynched the song "Deuce."

Six-year-old Peter Edgerly got the crowd going with his mock rendition of Huey Lewis' "Heart of Rock 'n' Roll."

Richard Sullivan, center with guitar, lead his air band in the Beastie Boys' "Fight For Your Right."

The kids proved themselves real hams during the event.

Casey Casem may be hearing from these Andover youths in the future. More than 100 local kids participated in a lip-synch contest July 22. The contest was part of the Department of Community Services' Peanut Festival at the Park. Some performers kids chose to mimic were Huey Lewis, Motley Crue, Whitney Houston and Madonna.

DCS staffers spent about few weeks rehearsing the kids for their big day. For about two and a half hours, solo and group acts hammed it up for their peers and supervisors.

They lipped the words to popular songs and played mock instrument with energy that rivaled their Top 40 counterparts.

OPINION

THE TOWNSMAN, JULY 30, 1987

Commuter Dilemma

It was a most interesting evening a week ago Monday at the commuter forum initiated by State Rep Sue Tucker.

Basically it was recognition of a continuing problem for many Andover residents who must rely on commuter services to go back and forth to their employment in the Boston area.

But, in the process, if one were attentive enough, there was contained an ominous forecast of things to come, such as MBTA takeover of local bus service, which will mean becoming engrossed in the clutches of a mammoth agency, accountable to virtually nobody, spending funds at will and passing the bill on to the taxpayers.

For many years Andover residents have been exempt from that.

When train service was discontinued several years ago, Trombly Bus Service in Andover, later North Andover, assumed the commuter run to and from Boston, serving the area well until costs became prohibitive and the owner decided to abandon the business.

Further, the company was denied the local, subsidized bus routes with equipment paid for in part by federal and state funds.

Thus, the way was cleared for another firm to come in and assume the commuter service.

The service has deteriorated from day one.

Equipment is poor to begin with, a fact the bus company admits, service is hardly ever on time and vehicle breakdowns are more a part of daily operations than meeting schedules.

The owners of the current firm providing commuter service explained to the forum last week that attempts to get new equipment or assistance from state agencies fall on deaf ears.

Key comment in the meeting was from a representative of the company who informed the group that the MBTA turned down requests for subsidies or equipment lease because the 'MBTA priorities were for the starting of new services, not to keep old lines running.'

That would indicate that the MBTA is eyeing the Andover area longingly, knowing full well the need to provide mass transit service to and from the Boston area, subsidized by the Andover taxpayers.

Currently the transit service is supported by those who use it, which is as it should be.

Train service, provided through the combined efforts of the MBTA and Boston and Maine, are not by any means adequate, although meeting a need to a certain degree.

And, the overall problem is bound to get worse as work on depressing the Central Artery in Boston commences in a short time.

Rep. Tucker has made some initial moves to attack the commuter problems both in response to local concerns as well as bringing attention to an even greater concern once the major Boston construction work gets underway.

But, applauding her efforts at this level will do little to ease the matter unless those on Beacon Hill also recognize the problems and assist in working on resolving the issue with a little more attention to the overall issue of providing decent mass transit service to the people of the Commonwealth.

Apology Seen Due

To The Editor Of The TOWNSMAN:

I am writing to express outrage at the none-too subtle suggestion made in last week's editorial, "Schools and Day Care," that mothers with jobs work primarily to secure luxury items and do not make sacrifices for their children. The editorial was offensive to all two-career couples and single working parents, inaccurate in many points and, if it should represent the majority opinion among Andover's voters, positively ominous.

As the editorial mentioned only in passing, many mothers work in order to provide their families with the basics of food, shelter, clothing and education. Single parents, male and female, often have no choice but to work. Perhaps ironically, the only "luxury" that many working mothers hope to buy with their hard-earned cash is that of living in Andover, a town they thought would provide benefits to their children.

Many working mothers provide valuable services to society as, for example, educators, health area providers, elected officials. Far from being the selfish individuals you describe, these women struggle daily to give their best to their children and to their citizens in need.

As anyone familiar with the child development literature knows, the verdict is out on whether a mother's working affects her children for better, for worse or not at all. Many working mothers believe that there is a benefit in demonstrating to their children, boys and girls, that staying at home is only one of many respectable ways for women to spend their adult lives.

The editorial implies that working parents who request after-school care seek to drain the town's coffers. I was not among the group present at the school committee meeting and I do not speak for them. However, the working parents I know are willing to pay for child care out of their own pockets. They are not asking for a free ride. But, let's not forget that working parents pay a healthy chunk of their income to Andover in the form of tax dollars.

I am not picking a quarrel with Superintendent Seifert. Schools are asked to do more than they can given their funding. On the other hand, it seems perfectly reasonable to me that parents should turn first to the schools when seeking after-school care. Day care is a complicated matter but one that should be addressed by this town.

What is particularly frightening to me about the editorial is the prospect that it may represent the prevailing sentiment in Andover. My husband and I moved to Andover as expectant parents specifically because of the schools' reputation. We thought Andover was a town that was concerned about its children. This editorial and the debate over school funding at last spring's Town Meeting make me wonder if we were correct. Although clearly the sums of money involved are on very different scales, it is significant that voters chose to support July 4th fireworks and not the schools' request for extra funding. Perhaps it is these voters and not working mothers that the TOWNSMAN should accuse of putting frivolities before the welfare of children. Surely, an apology to Andover's working mothers and single parents is in order.

Gold Rips North Reading

By Rick Harrison

Jimmy Hanning, Mark Hopkinson and Keith Abernathy combined to pitch a no-hitter while Chris Lane (2-for-2, three-run homer) and Kurt Soloman (2-for-2, triple, 2 RBIs) powered the offense as Andover Gold ripped the North Reading Braves 10-1 in Greater Reading Pony League baseball action this past weekend at Andover High.

The victory pulled AG out of a recent tailspin, the East Division leaders having dropped two straight and three of four prior to that. Earlier last week Gold lost to West Division leader Lynfield (10-5) and the Reading Jets (5-2).

The two-time defending league champs entered this week 8-4-1 overall, having aced the Stoneham Cubs last night. Gold hosts the Reading Y's men at Andover this evening at 5:45 p.m. and the Wilmington Wildcats Saturday at 10 a.m.

Andover Gold, 10-1

The no-hitter was the first for Gold in several years and the 24th overall for the Babe Ruth Pony League program in the last 22 summers. Abernathy pitched the first 2 and 1/3 innings, Hopkinson the middle 2 and 2/3 and Hanning the final two. The trio combined to strike out four and walk 12. Hanning (1-0) was credited with the victory because he was the most effective of the three pitchers.

Gold jumped ahead 2-0 in the bottom of the first. Bill Batchelder ripped a one-out, two-strike single to right centerfield, stole second and took third on Abernathy's long flyball to leftfield. Chris Lane walked and stole second, Kurt Soloman lashed a two-run single to left centerfield. AG added a run in the second, loading the bases with no outs when Dave Carriere singled, Scott Halecki walked and Paul Lembo walked. Mark Hopkinson grounded a one-out RBI single to centerfield, but a runner was thrown out at the plate to blunt a possible big inning.

Two hit batsmen and a pair of walks produced the lone North Reading run in the third.

In the bottom of the third Lane singled and Abernathy reached on a fielder's choice. Soloman followed with a sacrifice bunt and a double throwing error on the play enabled both runners to score and Soloman to circle the bases for a 6-1 Gold advantage.

With two down in the fourth Hopkinson singled, Batchelder singled and Lane hammered a long three-run homer to leftfield. It was Lane's second four-bagger of the season.

Gold

The final Gold run came in the fifth when Soloman drilled a leadoff triple and crossed on Carriere's sacrifice fly. Lane went 2-for-2 and scored three runs, while Soloman went 2-for-2 and scored twice. Hopkinson continued his torrid hitting with 2-for-4 and Brian Smith lined a sharp single to centerfield.

Gold played its second consecutive errorless game and had four sparkling defensive plays. Carriere opened the game with an excellent play at first base, fielding a slowly hit grounder and feeding an underhand toss to pitcher Abernathy to nip the runner. Peter Arthur made another patented diving catch in rightfield to preserve the no-hitter, while Soloman gloved a vicious liner to third base in the fourth. Hanning and shortstop Lane pulled off a textbook doubleplay in the sixth, the 13-year-old lefty pitcher fielding a one-hopper at the mound and leading Lane perfectly at second base for the first out. Lane then gunned the relay to Brian Smith at first to complete the DP.

Lynnfield, 10-5

Lynnfield sprayed 14 hits around the Andover High field en route to its triumph.

Bright spots for Gold were the hitting by the heart of the order, Keith Abernathy, Chris Lane and Kurt Soloman, and decent relief pitching from Paul Lembo and Mark Hopkinson.

Abernathy went 3-for-4 with a triple and four runs scored, Lane stroked a double and single in three official triples and Soloman drove home three runs with a pair of singles.

Lynnfield, beaten 4-3 by Gold earlier this season, bolted to a 5-0 first-inning lead. The teams played even (5-5) the rest of the day, but the deficit was too much for AG to overcome.

Gold notched a run in the first when Abernathy singled, stole second and crossed on Lane's double.

The locals closed the gap to 6-3 in the third, the key stroke an RBI single by Soloman.

Abernathy tripled and scored on an error in the fifth and consecutive singles in the seventh by Abernathy, Lane and Soloman (RBI) produced the final run.

Dave Carriere added a single and Bill Batchelder made a superb running catch in leftfield. Jimm Hanning did a steady defensive job during his four-inning stint at first base.

Reading Jets, 5-2

Dave Girard came close to beating Gold single-handedly at Reading's Morton Field. He pitched three shutout innings at the start of the game while the Jets built a 3-0 lead and offensively he went 3-for-4 with a solo homerun, long RBI triple and single.

After failing to advance a runner beyond second base over the first four innings, Gold came alive in the fifth when Mark Hopkinson reached on a two-out error, Bill Batchelder singled and Chris Lane belted a two-run double to left centerfield.

It remained 3-2 until the bottom of the sixth when the Jets bunched four of their hits for a pair of insurance runs.

Gold threatened in the seventh in a one-out single by Scott Halcki and a walk to Peter Arthur, but an infield pop and flyout to left ended the contest.

Batchelder led the eight-hit AG attack with two singles, while other safeties were by Keith Abernathy, Mark Hopkinson, Dave Carriere, Paul Lembo, Lane and Halecki. Gold played errorless ball and received a solid defensive effort from Lane at shortstop.

Kitchen Design

by David A. Clement, Designer

Struggling with a stack of heavy baking dishes, when only one is needed, is an ordeal in most kitchens. Because of their diverse sizes, they never seem to stack neatly. One way to resolve this problem is to store them vertically in a deep cabinet drawer beside the oven. The individual dishes can be kept separated by vertical hardboard dividers. Each divider can be clipped into place on the front and back walls of the drawer. In this way, they can be moved about to make room for dishes of differing widths. Extra space can be used to store cook books and appliance manuals.

Establish a totally individualized room that will reflect your special needs as well as your family's. We feature beautiful cabinets in many styles and finishes and will coordinate electrical and plumbing work. Your dreams can come true when you work with us at 1101 Boston Rd., Ward Hill, Mass. 01881. Andover National Continues Quest To Repeat As Champs

Tewksbury 6 - Andover 5

After winning three straight and entering double elimination, Tewksbury National defeated Andover National 6-5. The locals made a comeback after falling behind 6-0. Tewksbury scored four in the first on three walks and a grand slam homerun. In the second a runner reached on an error with two out and a two-run homer had Andover down 6-0.

Andover scored two in the third when Andy Novelline reached on an error, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on Justin Hesenius' single. Hesenius scored on a base hit by Gus Quattelbaum. With two out and no one on in the fourth, Todd Murray tripled and scored on an interference call. Scott Henry hit a bases-empty homer with one out. After the second out, Kevin Lane singled and Murray doubled. With runners on second and third, Novelline reached on an error, scoring Lane. However, Murray was out in a rundown to end the game.

After a shaky start, Novelline held Tewksbury hitless and runless over the last three innings.

Andover 3 - South Lawrence West 2

Andover met South Lawrence West for the second time in tournament play and defeated them by the same 3-2 score as the first game. It was a scoreless tie until the fourth when Andover pushed across three runs. Mike Sullivan led off with a single and was out trying to score on Gus Quattelbaum's double. Scott Henry singled, moving runners to second and third. With two out, John Shea hit a shot for a double, scoring Quattelbaum and Henry. Andy Brown walked and Kevin Lane ripped a single, knocking in what proved to be the game-winning run. Justin Hesenius allowed just one hit in four innings. However, a single, a walk and a single allowed Lawrence to score. In the sixth Hesenius surrendered a lead-off homerun before retiring the side to preserve a tough 3-2 win. Hesenius went the route, allowing 4 hits, striking out 10 and walking 4.

Andover 6 - Tewksbury 5

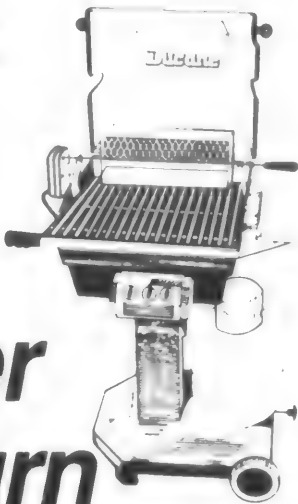

Andover came from a 5-2 deficit to score four in the fifth to post a come-from-behind thriller 6-5 victory over Tewksbury National. Tewksbury scored first on a bases-empty homer to lead off the second. In the last of the second, John Shea singled and Justin Hesenius hit a two-run homer to give Andover a short-lived lead.

In the third, after two outs, no one on, Tewksbury ripped two singles and a three-run homer. Tewksbury led off the fourth with a double and Andy Novelline replaced Todd Murray on the mound. Novelline retired the side with Tewksbury scoring one run to lead 5-2.

Novelline led off the last of the fifth with a single, Mike Sullivan walked and both advanced on a wild pitch. Gus Quattelbaum rifled a single to center, scoring two runs. Shea reached on an error and Kevin Lane walked. Murray hit a base hit to deep shortstop and Quattelbaum and Shea scored while the shortstop hesitated to give Andover a 6-5 lead.

Burlington Sweeps Series

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Blue and Gold 13-year-olds combined forces recently to play the Burlington Babe Ruth All-Stars in a two-game, home-and-home, non-league youth baseball series.

Burlington defeated Andover 7-1 at Andover High and 10-8 at Simonds Park in Burlington.

The Burlington team later qualified for the state Babe Ruth tournament.

Burlington, 7-1

The teams were locked in a 0-0 tie through four innings in the opener, Jim Hanning and Matt Daniels tossing two shutout innings apiece for Andover. Hanning struck out two, permitted just one single and faced only seven batters. Daniels allowed one single, walked one, whiffed one and faced eight batters.

Burlington eventually broke through with four runs in the fifth, then added two in the sixth and one in the seventh.

Andover averted the shutout in the bottom of the seventh when Scott Halecki walked, took second on a passed ball, third on an error and scored on Brian Novelline's infield out.

Andover Blue-Gold managed just two base-hits, leadoff singles by Matt Daniels and Ben Russell in the first and second innings.

Bobby Sheehan hit the ball hard and played a solid defensive game at shortstop.

Burlington, 10-8

Facing the same two pitchers two days later in Burlington, Andover Blue-Gold lashed 11 hits and made things interesting with a five-run uprising in the seventh.

Mark Hopkinson was the most effective Blue-Gold hurler with two innings of one-hit, three-walk, two-run relief.

Andover notched its first run in the second stanza when Brian Novelline belted a long triple to centerfield and scored on a wild pitch.

In the fourth Bobby Sheehan and Mark Hopkinson slapped leadoff singles and Novelline rescued Sheehan with a sacrifice fly.

In the fifth Peter Arthur walked, Jim Landry singled, Scott Halecki walked to load the bases and Matt Daniels walked to force home a run. A pickoff at third base hurt when Sheehan followed with a single to reload the bases and a sharp grounder to shortstop ended the inning.

Jim Landry's one-out single started the seventh-inning comeback with walks to Halecki and Matt Daniels loading the bases. A walk to Sheehan forced home a run and Mark Hopkinson cleared the bases with a long three-run double to leftfield. Brian Novelline promptly singled home Hopkinson, making it 10-8, but a line-drive doubleplay ended the rally and the game.

Novelline went 3-for-3, Sheehan 2-for-3, Landry 2-for-3 and Hopkinson 2-for-4.

Matt Harris and Halecki added singles and Halecki was on base three straight times (two walks).

Power Problems Resolved

By Karen L. Day

Prior power problems in the southern section of Andover have been settled through constant communication and cooperation, say area residents and Mass Electric officials.

The long-standing power problems of residents in the southern and Ballardvale sections of town finally angered residents when they lost electricity during the Super Bowl last January 25.

About 2000 area customers signed a petition requesting equal power service to that received by other town residents. The group placed calls to town and Mass. Electric officials, and organized a February 23 meeting to address the issue.

Once concerns were presented, says Mass Electric official Paul McNamara, the company investigated and came to the same conclusion as residents—improvements were definitely needed.

The company embarked on a tree-trimming expedition, removing branches from lines. They then installed squirrel cages after finding the creatures chewing on some of the lines.

Major work included a change in the fusing system, breaking the area into sub-sections, so power outages could be confined to smaller sections.

Azalea Drive resident Jared S.A. Clark, one of those who spearheaded the resident group's power improvement aims, said residents are happier now. "I'm very pleased with the work Mass. Electric has done," he stated.

According to Clark, only two power losses have occurred in the last few months, one after an auto accident and another during a storm. He added the outages were confined to only small areas as a result of the changed fuse system.

Clark, former Andover town manager, believes the way in which residents approached Mass. Electric with concerns had much to do with the positive results. Although they made it clear they wanted something done, Clark commented, they didn't get nasty about it. They simply presented their concerns in an intelligent manner and offered the company a chance to look into it and take action.

McNamara agreed, commenting "We would hope we could deal with situations like this" and added there was an "unprecedented spirit of cooperation" between the residents, the company, and town officials. When there seemed to be a gap between the company and the residents, Town Manager Kenneth Mahony and the Selectmen stepped in.

"Give us a chance to respond to concerns and questions," McNamara commented, "and we'll respond and straighten it out."

Down The Years

ings have been in progress for some time. They are necessitated by the land takings for new Interstate 495, which swings thru Andover and intersects Route 93.

2 Years Ago — July 1977

Formal appointment and swearing in of William T. Downs as the Andover fire chief will be among the items for Monday's selectmen's meeting. Lt. Robert Bush will be promoted to the rank of deputy fire chief by Town Manager J. Maynard Austin.

The New Indian Ridge Country Club received approval of a common victualler and alcoholic beverages license from the selectmen last Monday night.

Boston Globe reports and comments by Secretary of Environmental Affairs Evelyn Murphy to the contrary, Andover has no water problems, as evidenced by the draft on the supply during the current hot spell.

Installation of the new water lines on River Road is moving along well, the contractor having installed most of the pipe along the stretch of road and moving into the Boutwell Road and Pleasant streets areas to finish up there.

Folk Artist

dream of one of Bourgeois-Richards' three children.

"I see a sense of warmth and love I don't see in other pictures often," said Andover resident Betty Mobbs, who owns four of Bourgeois-Richards' prints. "Each one's different, and they grow on me."

"When we do a show," said Richards, "people come to the booth, and they may come in with a solemn face, but they always leave with a beautiful smile."

The artist herself, a soft-spoken woman, lets everyone else do the talking. Although the American Folk Art Museum in New York City, has just accepted some of her work, she never been there.

"I just paint them," she said. "It's fun to hear what others say about them."

a cost of $20,000.

Finally, a pedestrian access should be constructed from the Elm St. auto parcel to the Footware Gallery lot, according to Hill, and thirteen signs identifying parking areas and directing motorists to them should also be installed.

The study results and recommendations will be discussed by the Planning

Owner Maria Reitano lends her personal touch.

Kampus Kuts: A Personal Touch

Tucked into one of the quiet, serene corners of the Andover Inn, located on the grounds of Phillips Academy, you will find a hair salon to match the elegance of its location.

Maria Reitano, owner of Kampus Kuts, carefully tends to the needs and desires of her customers with a very special personal touch.

Kampus Kuts may be small in area, but it is big in the knowledge of style trends and hair products. It is a salon designed for the smallest child to the mature adult, man or woman.

Choose from blow cuts, wet cuts, frosting, perms, hi-lites or a variety of services to meet your every desire. Men can get a businessman's dry cut, blow cut, beard and moustache trims. Prices are reasonable and children's rates are available for youngsters under the age of ten.

The KMS line of hair care products are available for purchase, as are Sebastian's "Cellophanes". Cellophane is a hair coloring technique which causes no side effects such as skin or eye irritation. They contain no ammonias or perox-ides and boast a hair color with nothing but shine. Cellophanes are known as the "no colour, colour".

Come to Kampus Kuts and meet Maria. She will give you the look that you want...From the ultra-conservative Yuppy-look, to the wild and crazy Spiked-look! Maria wants you to know that your needs and desires are her foremost concern. At Kampus Kuts the customer comes first.

Call Maria at 470-1544 for an appointment or walk in to Kampus Kuts. Enter the Andover Inn, turn right and follow the signs. Open 9 AM to 5 PM.

SHOPPING FOR A MOVING COMPANY

Whether you're moving across town or across the country, it's a good idea to shop around for a household goods mover. Local companies that specialize in moves between homes in a single state have always been very competitive. In the past, inter-state movers were heavily regulated by the Interstate Commerce Commission and charged the same rates. Today, however, the interstate movers are much less regulated, and their rates are varied and probably negotiable.

If you're in the market for a mover, get recommendations from friends or neighbors. Call several companies for estimates, and ask how their rates are calculated. Find out what kind of insurance against damage or breakage is included in their charges, and how much will additional coverage cost you? Charges are usually broken down into two areas - packing your goods and then getting them onto the truck and into your new home. You can probably save a considerable amount of money by doing your own packing.

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling a home, talk to the professionals at Realty USA / Schruender Real Estate. Come by our offices at 73 Chickering Road, North Andover or call us at 685-5500.

Lawrence, Andover Collaborative School May Be Sited In Andover

By Lewis C. Howe

The proposed K-8 collaborative school will result in "an interaction of culture and lifestyle" for residents of Andover and Lawrence, said Dennis Richards, project director for the Andover/Lawrence Collaborative School.

"There is no question these two communities mesh well," Richards stated. "People who work in Lawrence often live in Andover, people who live in Lawrence work in Andover. The people know each other."

A Beacon St., Andover site is currently being considered as the prime location for the school.

The school will consist of 1200 students, including 400 volunteers from Andover and 800 Lawrencians chosen to comply with affirmative action guidelines.

Teachers will be selected from interested staff in both the Andover and Lawrence school systems. "We expect no problems finding enough volunteers," Richards said, noting the collaborative school is designed to offer the latest in curriculum and staff development programs.

Staff development will be "an essential ingredient" in the collaborative school's recipe for high-quality cooperative education, Richards commented. "Our whole thrust is to try to bring university research on education into the classroom," he said.

Having a school of this nature "will allow us to carefully monitor implemented programs," Richards continued. In the past, he pointed out, many experimental programs have not been overseen properly, and could not be modified if necessary. It was also difficult to accurately examine the results of an initiative conducted in this fashion.

Possible new curriculum plans being discussed include an advanced science program that would, Richards said "go beyond textbooks and get students to learn by doing." This may include outdoor observation and extensive hands-on experiments. There are also preliminary plans for a comprehensive health education program. Richards said the school's Program committee is carefully considering a variety of concepts such as these.

The Project Director emphasized the term "collaborative" means working together, and he said he expects parents of the school's students to "help formulate our goals and philosophy." He added "there will be definite roles for parents" in the new school.

The Collaborative School Project is currently examining a 26-acre site on Beacon St. in Andover as the school's possible home. "We (the school's Site committee) started by examining six sites along the Andover/Lawrence border" Richards explained, and we decided three weeks ago to evaluate them."

The Beacon St. parcel is presently undergoing extensive soil and site review tests, the results of which should be known in about two months, Richards said. The land is also being appraised so that an offer may be made to purchase the site from its present owners.

If this location is deemed unsuitable for any reason, Richards said, "there are four other sites we are still considering." If all goes according to plan, the Andover/Lawrence collaborative school should be ready to open its doors in September of 1990.

Land purchase and building construction costs are expected to be 90 percent subsidized by the state. The Collaborative School Project has both Legislation and Financing Committees to work on attaining the necessary funds from the Commonwealth. Richards was confident the money would be forthcoming, saying "people are committed to this idea."

The Collaborative school will be the first of its kind in Massachusetts. The proposal has received the ardent support of both the Lawrence and Andover school committees, Richards remarked. "They like what we're doing so far."
